

Ethical Policy

The article submitted should contain the name of the authors and it must have the complete institutional address of all the authors. The same manuscript should not have been submitted to any other journals; if so the article/research paper will be removed without consideration. Authors must be honest in presenting their results and conclusions of their research. The authors should submit the raw data to the chief editor if needed. Following publication, the data should be retained for a reasonable period and made available upon request. Manuscripts received for review will be treated as confidential documents. The confidentiality of participants in the review process is protected.
